A DJ's Guide To Finding Your DJ

By djChrisPickett.com

I am a Boston-area based award-winning DJ who has performed on-air and at weddings & functions throughout New England since 1979 and here is my advice on what you should look for in a DJ:

Overview: Much of what follows, focuses on wedding receptions but also applies to any event. As I'm sure you're finding out, planning a wedding reception or any function is time consuming & expensive. But with research, the old adage that you get what you pay for is true.

Professional DJs have invested a lot of time, money and, from the personal level, passion in perfecting their craft. They not only know and love music more than most people can imagine, they know that you and your guests want to have a good time. Most importantly, they know what makes people move! And they often deserve the money they command..

Additionally, a professional DJ that specializes in wedding receptions is not the same as an amateur DJ that just shows up and plays records – something that no couple should want for their wedding day – or at any celebration! A professional DJ develops a relationship with you that starts the day you contract & runs throughout the planning process all the way to your final dance! They make themselves available when needed to discuss not only your musical ideas but also the other formal reception events. By the time your wedding day arrives, every detail has evolved into a comprehensive event itinerary, which your DJ professionally executes in the additional capacity of Master Of Ceremonies. With your Master of Ceremonies & Celebration keeping an eye on detail and a focus on fun, all you have to do is have the time of your life!

Think about this for a minute: The reception is the centerpiece of your wedding day! You've sought out the nicest setting and the best caterer, so why not hire the best DJ? After all, you're inviting everyone you know to celebrate this milestone in your life and ultimately, it's your DJ who makes this happen for you! Throughout the years to come, you and your guests will probably best remember your reception based upon how much fun they had dancing the day away. This is why choosing your entertainment is perhaps the most important decision you'll make and why finding a professional disc jockey is worth the time and investment.

Preparation: Finding your DJ is not a hard process. Word of mouth is often a DJ's best referral but many are found via regional Internet search - i.e.: "South Shore Wedding DJ" (etc.) and also by inquiring on local Facebook community pages. Seasonal bridal shows, held at hotels and convention centers, offer ability to meet DJs (and other vendors) in person. Some venues offer packages that include a DJ - but don't feel restricted by this option, as you may not be satisfied with the DJ you are given. Venue DJs often have little or no pre-wedding interaction with you and may be assigned as close as a week prior to your big day. This limits the level of pre-wedding day interaction and attentiveness that you deserve & get when compared to an independent DJ that will work directly with you throughout the planning process. If you opt out of the venue package concept, take the $ allowance out of the package and apply it to a DJ you prefer. Don't treat your entertainment needs like a menu item at a drive-thru window. Take the time to plan – you'll be glad you did.

Once you locate a DJ, make sure they are local & carefully view their web site content, as it should reflect much of what follows herein. Next, bookmark potential candidates and then prepare for your interview process.

Personality: Establishing a good rapport with your DJ is very important. Initial contact via e-mail can go only so far at conveying what your needs are and most importantly, in establishing a confidence level that you are looking at a viable candidate. So if you like what you've seen on a web site, make that call to hear if what you've seen matches up. If so, set up a meeting with the DJ in person. If all parties are local, this should be easy. If not, then a teleconference should occur. Either way, get to know your prospective DJ – it's the one part of the process that if missed, could truly make or break your wedding reception.

Pricing: Pricing is often the first question asked of a DJ. And although cost is important in most aspects involving your wedding day, pricing should become a factor only after you know what you will be getting for your dollar. That's why it's important to approach this part with an open mind before an open wallet. Still, even in these tough economic times, DJs remain your most affordable entertainment option. There are values to be found and especially at bridal shows, which are held during the Fall/Winter months.

Most DJs will quote a price for up to a 4 or 5 hour time period. Receptions lasting longer may have a unique fee applied. So, before you ask how much, review the structure of your wedding day and how the scheduled events impact your DJ's involvement. For example, do you plan on having your DJ play at your cocktail hour? How about providing music for your ceremony? If so, are these events within or outside of the reception timeframe that you will contract your DJ? Do they take place in locations remote from where the DJ will set up for the reception itself? Keep in mind that separate (but reasonable) fees for these events and circumstances could apply due to the need for additional equipment and set up time.

Overall, a good rule of thumb regarding pricing is to know your budget, proportion it against the significance of entertaining your guests and then gauge these factors against the experience, personality and professionalism of all DJs you interview. If they truly know and love what they do, it will shine through when you talk to them and the tips expressed herein should help reveal to you more facts to help you make an informed decision.

Pointers: Other important things to remember/consider:

It's important to ensure that the DJ you subsequently hire will be your DJ and that you won't be farmed out to someone else! This has been known to happen. Your DJ should also be appropriately attired and have back-up equipment in the (unlikely) event of equipment failure.

Play-list: And now on to the main course - music! A wedding reception is one of the life events where you invite friends and relatives whose musical tastes span across many generations. Everyone knows hundreds of songs so your entertainment choice should have the ability to provide you and your guests with a large selection of the original hits that they remember. A prospective DJ should be able to furnish you with a sample song list that is reflective of such diversity.

More importantly, the DJ should have ready command of song titles & artists as well as various music styles and should also be willing to assist you in finding songs that you want which may not be readily available in the DJ's library. You'd be surprised how many DJs don't have a clue about the songs they play and how many don't have a wide variety to select from.

Perhaps you prefer light jazz and standards for cocktail and dinner time and then bump it up to high-energy dance music after dinner. Or maybe you want something altogether different. Customized music and microphones for your ceremony is also a popular & economical service DJs offer. If your DJ has a wide variety of music along with years of experience, then accommodation of your desires should not be a problem and your DJ should be willing to work with you to meet your goals.

Party Time: A wedding reception is a fluid event – especially during dance time, which typically lasts up to 3 hours during a 5-hour reception. The mood of a crowd & what motivates them to dance are beyond any one blueprint. A popular question is “how many songs should I choose?” My advice is to remember this concept: “So many songs, so little time.” This means that there's so much good music you'll want to hear but it's nearly impossible to play them all in 5 hours! So choose more songs than necessary & bullet a dozen or so must-plays. This paints a good picture of where you want to go musically + you'll make it an easier process.

I also recommend specifying cocktail and dinner hour styles/selections as these can set an underlying tone for your reception. A professional DJ can also offer expertise in this area should you feel uncertain.

During dance time it is also important that your DJ have latitude to play varied styles & content based upon requests and also the DJ's instinct and response to crowd reaction. If a particular song or music style is not working with your guests, the DJ's role is to sense and react accordingly to the mood of the crowd. The last thing any DJ wants to see is the dance floor itself – it's always better populated!

Also consider creating a “no-play” list of songs you really don't care for. Your DJ should be willing to work with such a list but you should also advise under what circumstances, if at all, a song on this list may or may not be played.

For example, sometimes a “no-play” list contains songs such as the Chicken Dance, etc. but often, such songs can become overwhelming requests upon the DJ by your guests. So, potential exceptions from the “no-play” list are circumstantial aspects to consider and advise your DJ on during preliminary discussions. It can be a balancing act between entertaining your guests and your own personal taste but in the end, if you are insistent about not wanting a particular song, your DJ should indicate readiness to advise requesting guests accordingly.

Performance: So, how do you find out about a DJ's performance style? Although it may seem best to discreetly attend one of their functions, this is in reality, an intrusion upon the DJ's client & guests as well as a potential imposition upon the DJ, all of who may feel distracted by your presence. A good DJ should be able to provide you with a demo that you can audition. This demo should contain a representation of their performance style and correspond to the impression they have made upon you in preliminary discussions. Also keep in mind that an experienced DJ should be adaptable to your varying needs to create a unique and memorable reception. This is the hallmark of a professional DJ.

Professionalism: Finally but certainly not the least important aspect of the decision process– professionalism itself. Your disc jockey should not only be an authoritative resource on music and use top of the line audio equipment, they should also possess an appealing personality that includes the ability to fulfill the role of Master Of Ceremonies at your reception. The MC function is perhaps the most crucial role of the day as there are several formalities scheduled. From your introduction to your final dance along with everything else in between, all need to be executed in a professional and timely manner so as to punctuate the importance of your newfound stature as a wedded couple.

In Closing: This is your big day. All of the stress you go through during the planning process should culminate in a happy and enjoyable celebration for you both. So make sure you're hiring a professional DJ and not an “MP3 player.”

As an MC, your DJ is speaking on behalf of you to your guests. As an entertainer, your DJ uses the intuitive skills perfected through years of experience to create a memorable soundtrack to your wedding day. Whether you hire a highly interactive personality who uses props/shtick or a more relaxed personality who interjects in a necessary & effective manner, it is up to the individual taste. Regardless, all should possess the professional qualities expressed herein.

Congratulations, you're now ready for the hunt. Good luck finding your DJ – perhaps it will be me!

TESTIMONIALS

Feedback from clients is always appreciated and here are some comments I've received:

Chris was an amazing DJ! He had amazing song choices and had the wedding guests up and dancing the whole time! He knew when to play each song and what song to play! I would highly recommend him for any kind of event!

Chris is a great DJ! He was extremely professional and worked with us on not only all of our requests but he also helped us organize everything so that all we did have to do was get to the church on time and totally enjoy our reception knowing Chris had everything under control.

We shopped around many other DJs before finding Chris and we were not disappointed. It's was a really fun and memorable reception!

"We couldn't have been happier with the work you did. This definitely was not a plain and ordinary wedding. It is not easy working with people from another country and integrating the Swedish style wedding but you handled it extremely well. Everything was organized perfectly, from the ceremony, to the singer, to the introductions, working with the toastmaster, as well as all of the music. Your flexibility and willingness to work with whatever we wanted to do for the reception was a huge part to making the night flawless.

Our family has been raving about it saying it was the best reception they ever went to, and a large part of that was because of you. If you ever need a recommendation, please feel free to use me."

"Dear Chris,

You did an outstanding job as DJ for our Golden Wedding Anniversary celebration. The dinner music was a quiet background, allowing mealtime conversation. Melody Of Love brought back fond memories and the choices of music for dancing with our children were highly appropriate. Later, you pleased our younger guests with songs like YMCA. We were pleased that the kids were having so much fun. Also, you were an excellent emcee, as you adapted the program so that our children could present their surprise video.

I recommend your services highly for any event."

Helen Braithwaite – Halifax, MA

Wedding Anniversary June 2007

"We had a fantastic time. Thank you for your big role in helping make it so. I'm sure that it was no coincidence that most guests – of all ages and musical preferences – found themselves on the dance floor for a majority of the evening. It was a wonderful event.

I am continuing to hear from guests how much fun the dancing was – and here I thought we didn't really have a dancing crowd!! You were terrific, thank you!"

"DJ, Chris Pickett was awesome. It was the first [class reunion] and they want Chris for number two! Chris kept the music going all night. The young people of North Quincy High School had an awesome time! We like that he plays all different music and he tunes into special needs people. Thanks for helping to make it so fun for all!"

Cathy Birchmore – N. Quincy, MA

Class Reunion 2003

"As soon as I met Chris at a Bridal Show I was impressed with his professionalism. He was the only DJ offering a [demo] to listen to. The other thing that impressed me about Chris is how he went out of his way to purchase a CD just so I would have a song I wanted for my dance with my Dad. As I recall, our guests were on the dance floor all night – especially once our meal was finished. Thank you, Chris!"

Chris Pickett has been playing music a very long time and is excellent at knowing what a crowd likes. Chris always accommodates his customers from light dinner music to getting the party started when people want to Dance. Highly Recommended.

Pauline Blake – Hingham, MA

Parties & Events (Several Years)

Chris Pickett is an awesome DJ. He knows how to study the crowd and play music to get everyone out on the dance floor. He is able to entertain everyone from young kids to grandparents. I still hear people talking about jobs he did years ago with fond memories. I would recommend him for any function.

Lynda Lynch – Quincy, MA

Parties & Events (Several Years)

"We have known Chris for the past 30 years. I had a surprise [wedding] anniversary party held in our honor by our children and they hired Chris to DJ. I found out then that this man is a natural. He doesn't beg to be noticed at all times; his selections are done with only a beneficial meaning to the purpose of the event.

Our family has hired Chris on many occasions and never did we have to cross our fingers that he would be "good" – He is better than that, he is a true professional."

Chris was fantastic! He was super accommodating and made our celebration a total blast. He had everyone out on the floor dancing and knew what to play next to keep people dancing all night. I can't imagine the night being as fun without him, and he was very open to any and all requests from guests. Thank you, Chris!

We had Chris dj our wedding on 10/15/16 and right from the start he was so organized and professional. He always responded to emails promptly and even did a phone call meeting to finalize the details the week of the wedding. He sent me a few files for fill out for all the ceremonial songs, wedding party songs and introductions, cake cutting songs, etc. Things I would have never thought of! The night of he arrived early to set up and kept the music playing all night. The dance floor was always packed and everyone had a wonderful night.

Chris was great. We had a lot of very specific ideas about the music that we wanted for our wedding and Chris was very accommodating and didn't give us any of the "I know better" push-back you can get from DJ's sometimes. He is very professional but still easy-going and easy to work with. And he has a great radio voice that adds another level quality to the proceedings.

Couldn't have been more pleased with Chris' DJ and MC services for our daughter's 6/27/15 wedding. He provided a comprehensive selection of music to choose from but he is totally flexible (we added another selection). The MC services were worked out in detail so the reception went very smoothly. He is professional in appearance, has a wonderful voice for the announcements, was very observant of details so we were very happy to have placed the wedding reception in his hands.

We had been to several of our friends weddings and they had Chris as a DJ. We wouldn't and couldn't settle for anything less. He did an excellent job and we had a wonderful wedding ceremony and reception. It was so nice of him to travel (about 3 hours) to accommodate us. I am sure we will see him again soon at our next wedding. We would recommend him to everyone.

Chris was extremely professional. He went above and beyond our expectations. He showed up early and was started early for our early arrivals. He took requests and got everyone up on the dance floor young and old. He even stayed late when we asked him too because everyone was having such a great time.

Chris is a great DJ! He was extremely professional and worked with us on not only all of our requests but he also helped us organize everything so that all we did have to do was get to the church on time and totally enjoy our reception knowing Chris had everything under control.

Chris was very plesaaant and professional in handling all the details of our big day and made everything go y. We knew we were in good hands when we met with him as he had dj'd a friend's wedding a year and did an awesome job. He was able to get people up on the dance floor and kept them there.

Chris Pickett was our first choice for our wedding reception. We attended a friend's wedding last year and knew that this was who we wanted for ours! He was very attentive to our music needs and very knowledgeable with the entire structure of a reception.

Chris Pickett is the DJ to have at your wedding or any special occasion! He did a fantastic job at our wedding. My husband, our guests, and myself all wished the reception could have gone on longer. I received many emails and calls from guests saying they had a great time and that the music was great! At our wedding everyone danced - young and old and Kevin and I had a blast! He played all of our "special requests" and even managed to find songs we wanted that we couldn't find ourselves on iTunes, YouTube, etc.

We had a great time at our Wedding. Chris preformed the ceremony and reception and was very thorough getting everything in order for our wedding day. By meeting with us several times, he insured that the music selections were just as we hoped. We have had several guests comment on how great Chris did in engaging everyone, yet not becoming the focus of the reception. Everyone had a great time because the music was great.

"Chris Rocks Our World!"

"My wife Sarah and I got married in September of 2006 where Chris was our DJ. Chris did a wonderful job not only with the music which was awesome, but also with the timing and the introduction of the bride and groom. He had our dance floor rockin' all night. I had guests come back to us later to say that was the best wedding they had ever been invited to!"

"We enjoyed Chris as our DJ so much so that we have had him back to DJ two other events for us. Both events were 50th birthday parties and Chris really did his homework. He pulled-up songs that were very appropriate for our crowd. Again, he had our dance floor rockin' all night long! Thank you very much Chris, I'm sure that we will be using you again in the future!"

Preferred Contact Method: Chris was very professional. He did a great job entertaining everyone. We got a lot of feedback from our guests about the great job he did and how much they enjoyed the music. He had both old and young up on the dancefloor. He did a great job with the announcements and some of the names were not easily pronounced. We would definitely recommend him to all our friends and family. We would also hire him for any party needs.
